Re: Reinstatement – Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act

Dear Sir/Madam:

On (START SERVICE DATE), I entered active duty with the (SERVICE BRANCH). On (END SERVICE DATE), I was honorably released from active duty.

Please accept this letter as a formal request to be reinstated in my former job. With your permission, I plan to report to work on (RETURN TO WORK DATE). Please call me at the number listed below if this date is not convenient. Pursuant to the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act, Title 38, United States Code Sections 4301-4335, I am entitled to be reinstated as soon as possible in my former position. The full Act is freely available for review on the United States Department of Labor website www.dol.gov.

Questions about the provisions of the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act can be directed to the National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (Department of Defense) at 1-800-336-4590 or by visiting www.esgr.mil.

Thank you for your patriotic support and cooperation in this matter.

Sincerely,

LAW YOU SHOULD KNOW
The Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) is a federal law that provides members of the Armed Forces, Reserves, National Guard or other uniformed services certain rights and protections concerning civilian employment. The law seeks to minimize disruption to the lives of servicemembers by ensuring that they are able to retain their civilian employment and benefits while serving their country, and by providing protection from discrimination.

SERVICE MEMBER/EMPLOYEE OBLIGATIONS
• NOTICE: Just as you, or your Commanding Officer, provided written notice to your employer about your absence due to active service, it is best to provide written notice about your return to work.

• RECORDS: The servicemember should also make reasonable efforts to maintain records that may be helpful upon return from an absence, including copies of signed orders.

• RETURN TIME: Depending on the length of absence, the servicemember will be required to report back to work or apply for reemployment within a specified period of time:

   (c) A person who is reemployed by an employer under this chapter shall not be discharged from such employment, except for cause—

     (1) within one year after the date of such reemployment, if the person’s period of service before the reemployment was more than 180 days; or

     (2) within 180 days after the date of such reemployment, if the person’s period of service before the reemployment was more than 30 days but less than 181 days. 38 U.S.C. § 4316.

BASIC EMPLOYER OBLIGATIONS
• Prompt reinstatement. The servicemember must be reemployed promptly.
• Accrued seniority. Servicemembers must be permitted to accrue seniority.
• Training. The employer is obligated to train or re-train the servicemember for the job returned to.
• Special protection against discharge, except for cause. The employer may not discharge the reemployed servicemember for 180 days following periods of service of 31-180 days, or for one year where the member’s service lasted more than 181 days.

WHAT IF I AM DENIED REINSTATEMENT?
Many employment conflicts can be avoided by being candid with your employer about your obligations as a member of one of the Reserve components. Another option is contacting your local Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) Program Support Specialist. They are available to assist you in ESGR-related matters that do not require intervention between an employer and service member. Visit www.esgr.org and click on “Resources for Servicemembers” to locate your ESGR Support Specialist.

If you DO encounter a conflict with your employer, then contact the ESGR. They are a Department of Defense organization that answers questions or provides mediation between you and your employer. You can submit a request online at the ESGR website or at the information below.
